ABOUT

While I was doing my undergraduate education in the disciplines of International Relations and Sociology, I developed myself especially in the field of NGOs, social projects and grants. Since I aimed to work in the corporate communications, public relations or marketing departments of global brands, I had the opportunity to employ brand ambassadors in this direction. As a person who is willing to learn and has high personal motivation, I believe that I will add value to my place with my theoretical and practical knowledge.
